EDUCATION SESSION HIGHLIGHTS

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 2 | 1:00 PM – 2:00 PM

Chimney Inspections Prior to Installations. What Are the Requirements?

Russ Dimmitt, Chimney Safety Institute of America

As chimney and hearth professionals, we often install venting for hearth products through existing masonry chimneys. Experience has shown that many masonry chimneys contain defects, which you will no doubt discover during an inspection. Without the proper tools and know-how, these defects pose a massive threat to the safety and integrity of the chimney (and your wallet!).

In this session, we will discuss the required steps of inspection, ways to perform the inspection and how best to document your findings to reduce liability. From the initial observations when you pull into the driveway to folding up the drop cloths and walking out the door, we'll cover what you need to know prior to installation. Come learn how performing a proper inspection will shrink your liability and increase your level of service, all while eliminating those expensive return trips!

THURSDAY, MARCH 3 | 3:30 PM – 4:30 PM

Adding Billiards to Your Product Mix

Ciarra McIntire Brother, Universal Billiards

Join us to discover how to increase revenue by expanding to billiards and home recreation furniture and games. Learn more about the wide spectrum of products offered, how you can incorporate these ideas into your current showrooms, and how you can utilize your current staff and operations to offer more home leisure fun to your customers.

FRIDAY, MARCH 4 | PART 1: 9:45 AM – 10:45 AM

PART 2: 11:00 AM – 12:00 NOON

Finding & Keeping People – Clues to Solve the Mystery

Doug Brown, Paradigm Associates

Businesses are in a war for talent. We are certainly not unique in this regard. But, that fact doesn't matter when you find yourself short of staff, are working longer hours, or worse yet, learning that your customers are getting anxious about the level of service you can consistently provide. This 2-part session will address these genuine challenges.

Building and growing your business means you will always be engaged in attracting, hiring, and retaining people. This challenge was hard enough before the pandemic- in a tight labor market, it has only gotten harder. Doug will be providing a high-level look at the mindsets, considerations, and strategies others use so you can adapt and adjust them for your business. In his second session, he will take us on a deeper dive into the strategies and specific tactics and tools others use to entice, hire, communicate with and retain valuable employees.

HPBA GOVERNMENT AFFAIRS REPORTS

Please note that you do not need to register for these education sessions to attend.

Join HPBA's Government Affairs staff at the 2022 HPBExpo for two special meetings: one specifically for manufacturers and one geared toward retailers, distributors, and manufacturers' representatives.

FOR MANUFACTURERS:

Gas and Solid Fuel Hearth Appliance Manufacturer Update Meeting

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 2 | 8:00 AM – 12 NOON

The first half of this meeting is a must for all manufacturers of natural gas and propane-fueled hearth products (including outdoor products), while the second half will focus on issues affecting wood-burning products.

Get the latest information on opportunities for the industry as well as regulatory and policy threats to hearth products across North America. For gas appliances, this includes updates on gas bans and fuel choice legislation. We will also cover supply chain and components issues affecting controls that can be offered in jurisdictions that have banned continuous pilots.

For manufacturers of solid fuel-burning appliances, there will be an update on several aspects of wood-burning appliance testing, regulation, and certification. HPBA staff and consultants will also provide the latest on test method developments and HPBA's advocacy efforts.

FOR RETAILERS, DISTRIBUTORS, AND REPS:

Government Affairs Review of Solid Fuel and Gas Hearth Products Regulations

Earn CEUs for this education session.

FRIDAY, MARCH 4 | 3:00 PM – 4:30 PM

HPBA's Government Affairs staff will provide you with everything you need to know about the impacts of natural gas bans and a growing number of states acting to preserve fuel choice. This year, we provide an opportunity to discuss local and state bans on natural gas in new AND existing homes and what you need to know to help stop these efforts. We will also provide the latest news on the federal tax credit for wood and pellet heaters, changeout program opportunities, and state and federal issues and their impact on you and your customers.

HPBEXPO 2022'S KEYNOTE ADDRESS

Welcome to the Hybrid Life: New Consumer Behaviors that are Changing Everything

Sponsored by Hearth & Home Technologies.

THURSDAY, MARCH 3 | 8:30 AM – 9:45 AM

Author and consumer expert Bridget Brennan will explore the challenges and opportunities of a new world in which our behaviors are increasingly "hybrid." Are we working from home or living at work? Are we hanging out together or are we each on our own devices? Is the living room the new gym or the center of family life? Are we actively shopping or are we scrolling through Instagram? Increasingly, the answer is both – and that brings new opportunities for businesses in the hearth, patio and BBQ industries, because the home is the heart of hybrid life.

In this eye-opening and entertaining keynote program, the author of Winning Her Business and Why She Buys will inspire you with insights on the cultural shifts that are driving changes in the way consumers live, work and buy. You'll walk away with strategies and best practices for leveraging these shifts to win sales and grow market share. You won't want to miss this master class on cultural relevance and consumer behavior.

NAPOLEON GUEST PANEL AND RECEPTION

FRIDAY, MARCH 4 | 5:00 PM

Napoleon is hosting a live panel of guest speakers and specialists from around the country to debut groundbreaking research that will dramatically impact the hearth industry. The results of the studies will forever change the way fireplaces are used, perceived, and desired by both homeowners and homebuilders. More specifics regarding the study and presenters will be announced in January. Join us and be the first to hear the research that will forever reposition our industry. The presentation commences at 5pm on Friday, March 4th, followed by a celebratory cocktail reception.
